

Mr. R. Ramkumar is a Chemical Engineer with Distinction from BITS (Pilani) under educational exchange programme of Massachusetts institute of Technology, Cambridge, USA.

He has more than 40 years of experience in Polymer engineering covering product development, Quality management, testing, production , quality Research, application and market development. Has worked in leading companies like SRF, PRC, HFL, Dunlop, Netlon etc handling industrial plastics, Fibres and Rubber He was polymer Consultant to National quality accredited and international companies operating in Indian Market.

As the Principal Editor and Publisher of leading international magazine "Polymer Society" between 2008 to 2015, he carried many quality related articles, spreading quality education. This magazine was part of many national and international conferences in India covering articles and events of many international conferences including NIQR that was circulated to all leading industries in manufacturing sector.

He appears in the 1st edition (2018) of "Great Men and Women of Science" published by International biographical centre, Cambridge, UK.